

HOW TO USE WINDOWS DVD MAKER TO CREATE A SIMPLE WEDDING SLIDESHOW

1. Ensure your system can burn DVDs
2. Go to Start>Search, type in Windows DVD Maker, and press ENTER
3. A window should pop up saying Add pictures and video to the DVD

4. Now, insert a blank DVD
 - a. As in the picture above, my DVD drive is designated as E: - please note yours may be D:, or possibly another letter
5. Click Add items in the top left
6. Here, it will want us to navigate to where our files are located to burn to the disc
 - a. Please note it is easiest to COPY all of the photos you want in this slideshow to one folder on the desktop
7. You will see I chose the folder Best For Frame, and selected all by clicking the first photo, then holding the SHIFT key and clicking the last

8. Now we will click Add, and then Options in the bottom right corner

9. On this window we want to ensure Play video in a continuous loop is selected

10. Click OK, and then enter a title in the DVD title box if so desired
11. When ready, click Next

12. On the Ready to burn DVD screen we first want to click on Slide show in the upper middle portion of the window

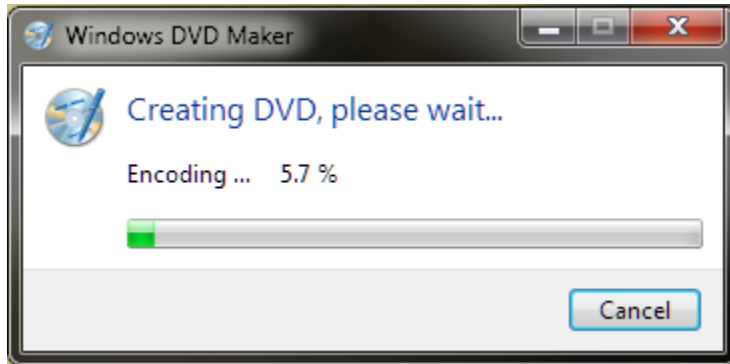

13. On this screen you will want to select the Picture length and Transition style
 - a. I recommend a picture length of 5-7 second max, although you may want to lessen this if you have a large number of pictures, or increase this if you want a longer pause on each one
 - b. I also find that choosing Random yields the most unique results, as each picture will change to the next in its own way
 - c. As a final note on this, most brides typically already have reception music picked out, so you most likely won't need to worry about the Add music function, which is entirely up to you

14. Once complete here, please select Change Slide Show
15. You are now ready to create the disc; please now push Burn

16. Note: If you have a lot of pictures, this step may take a while
